

Atkinson Hyperlegible

Atkinson Hyperlegible is a typeface created in partnership with Braille Institute. It has been developed specifically to increase legibility for readers with low vision, and to improve comprehension.

04

Four fonts, including two weights, in both roman and oblique

1,340

One thousand, three hundred, and forty total glyphs across all fonts

335

Three hundred and thirty-five glyphs per font

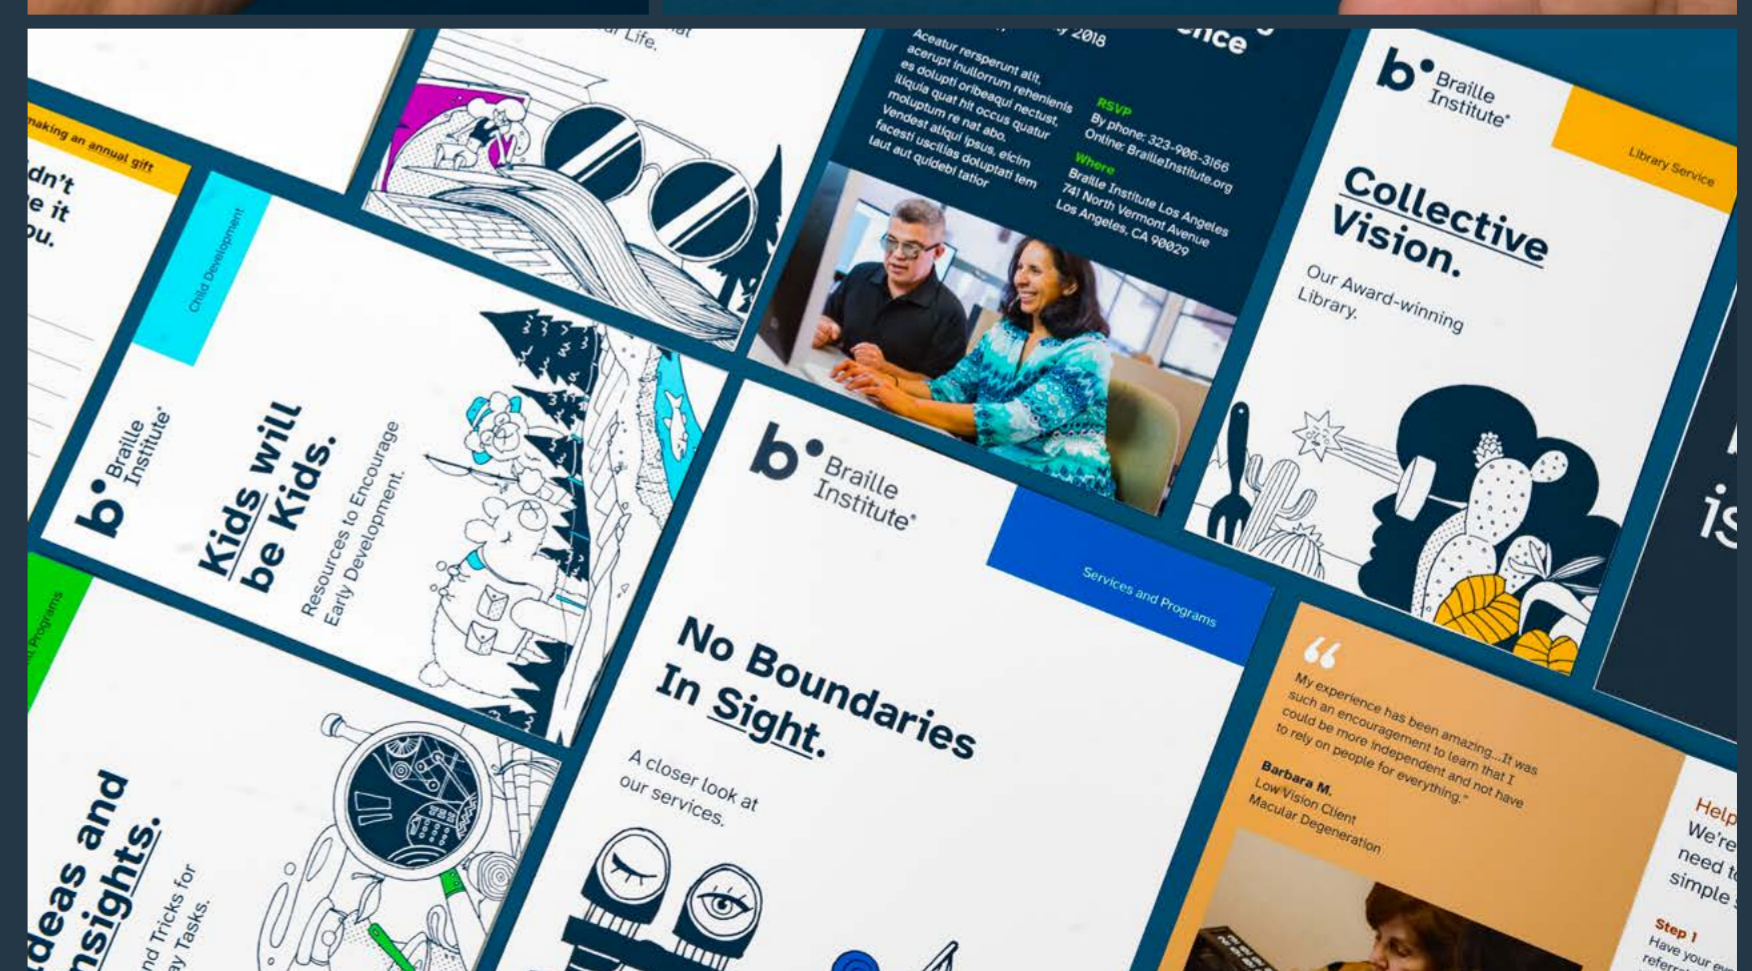

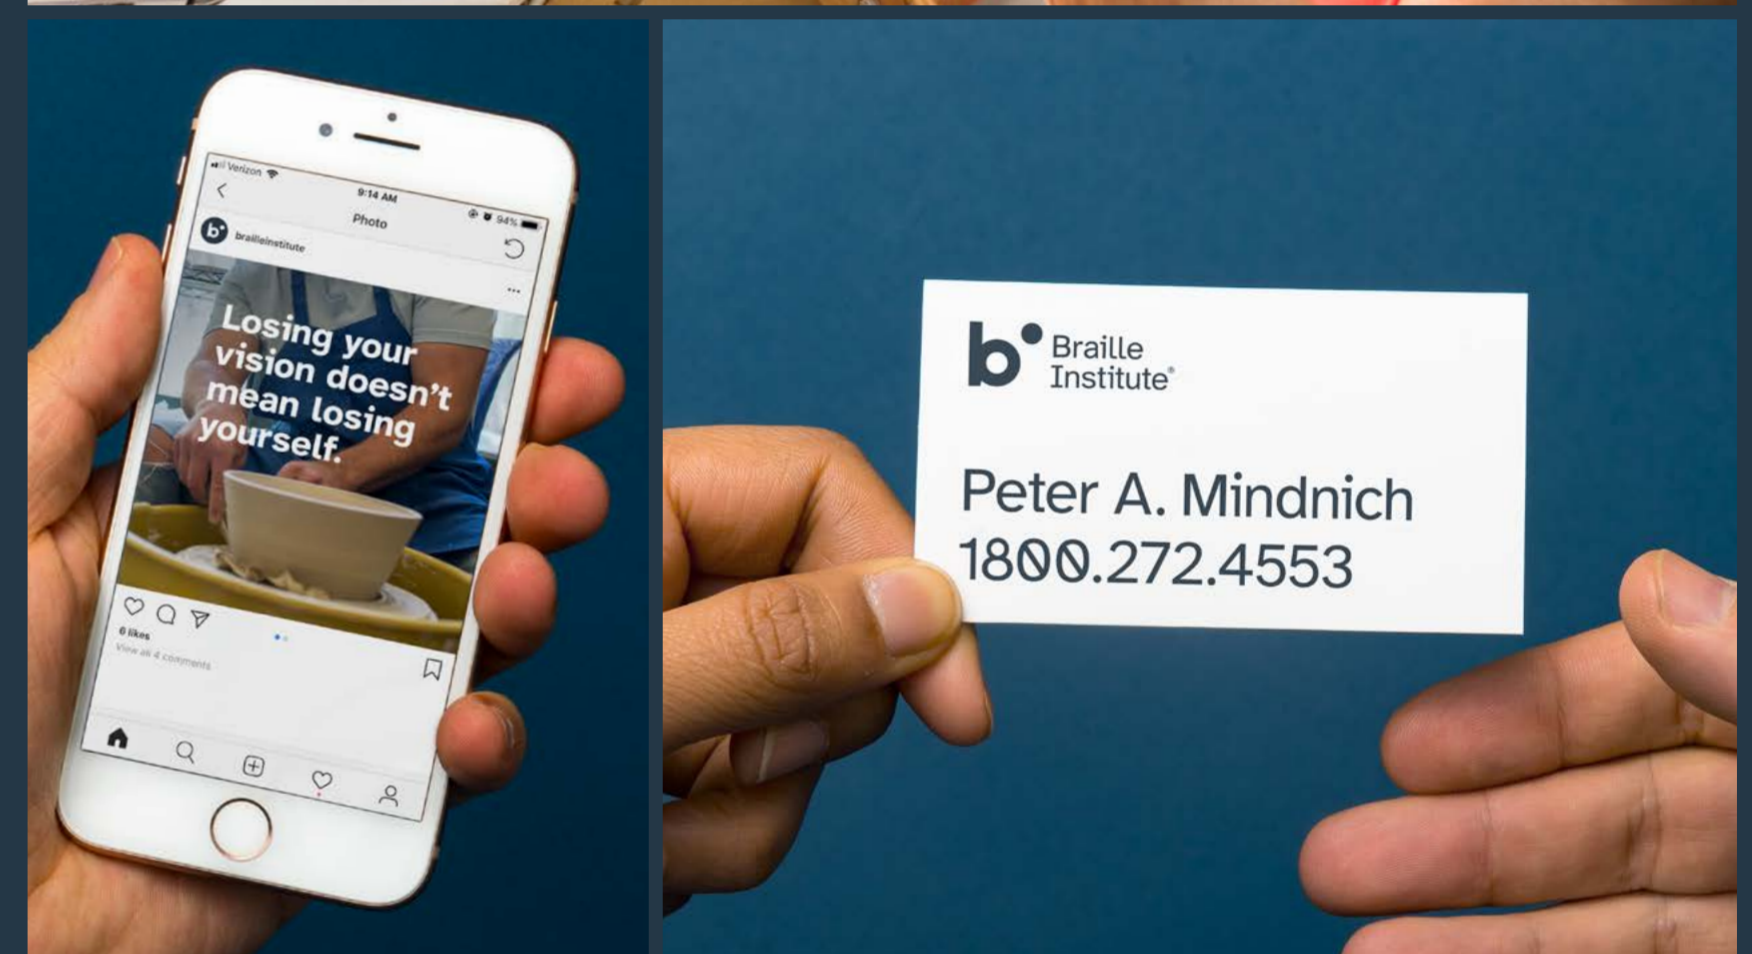

Äëş

Accent characters supporting twenty-seven languages

Named for the founder of Braille Institute, Atkinson Hyperlegible is a traditional grotesque sans-serif at its core.

It departs from tradition to incorporate unambiguous, distinctive elements—and at times, unexpected forms—always with the goal of increasing character recognition, and ultimately improve reading.

Braille Institute is a nonprofit organization that embraces the unique challenges of sight loss and low vision, and rejects perceived limitations.
